Make it your own

The best interiors are highly personal, and I love to layer them with furnishings of various styles, textures, and forms. Mid-Century architectural thinking inspires me with clean lines and honest use of materials. I usually use a single Mid-Century furnishing as the punctuation mark in a space – they're so easy to adapt with a change of material (think super patterned, or super subtle) that at the end of the day, the room's otherwise collected furnishings are perfectly contrasted by a chic, yet playful silhouette. – Alex Woogmaster, Founder + Creative Director of Woogmaster Studio
